Short Bio	I am an anthropologist by profession, with an area specialty in Japan (where I have lived for over twenty years), although I have also pursued a parallel track as an artist working in paper collage, oils, watercolors, silkscreen, and ceramics. My artwork, like my scholarship, is informed by a “disciplined eclecticism.” I have an insatiable curiosity that extends to all forms of artistic and aesthetic expression but am especially influenced by contemporary Japanese printmakers and ceramicists. Each medium—watercolor, oil, paper collage, clay—offers me different modes of engagement. In all of my artistic work, I wish to create interesting forms and compositions that engage visually and interpretatively on several registers.
Art Walk Status	I am new to Art Walk; Collage Artists of America, 2021&2016; National Watercolor Society, 2015; Michigan Water Color Society, 2016, 2013, 2012, 2011, 2009, 2008; Ann Arbor Art Center All Media Exhibition 2010&2008

Short Bio	I am an artist and animator living in the Seattle area. When I'm not animating, I try to get out into nature and paint using oils or water colors. I aspire to live life completely, honestly and compassionately, with a healthy dose of imagination to tell stories through painting and animation. I use art to capture moments in time, objects and landscapes that I once shared with those dearest to me or experienced on my own in reflection. I feel compelled by the need to capture those colors provided by the natural world around me. It's the desire to freeze those fleeting moment in time as light moves across a plain. When I paint outdoors, everything seem to stop for me. I try to incorporate texture, optical color effects and value while creating an image.

Short Bio	Photography has always been a way for me to interact with the world new and different ways. I exclusively shoot with a 30mm lens to physically force myself to squat, lay down, climb, or move closer or further away to line myself up for the correct shot. This physical interaction with my camera has pushed me further into abstract photography, seeking patterns and textures that may not be obvious at first glance.

Short Bio	I am a Chicano artist based out of downtown Seattle. Born and raised in Los Angeles, CA, I have been apart of the local punk and metal scenes in both regions for 20 years now and it's how I made my bones with developing my art. Started off doing work for my own bands, as well as my friend's bands then graduated to working with novelist, food companies and everything in between. I love drawing things for my friends, also helping people facilitate their ideas into a realized image. I live to draw, eat, and nap. It's all I want to do.
